MUNCH: CLOSING THOUGHTS

Munch is a powerful tool that can take your videos and repurpose them to engage your followers on social media. Most churches have sermons and worship in their services every week. With this tool, you can take your already-existing content and turn it into opportunities to engage your followers and reach new ones.

By taking your full-length sermons and transforming them into several bite-size snippets for social media, you'll have a greater chance of being boosted in algorithms and reaching new people. Munch will even create captions and hashtags for your videos that are specifically tailored to your social platform.

To get started, simply create a project, select the platforms you want the content created for, add a file or YouTube URL, and allow Munch to begin the process. Once the video is finalized, you can select one of the created moments, make any edits you see fit, export, and share across social media.
